Laws of Minnesota 2011 Final Report

Date: August 16, 2017

Program or Project Title: Accelerated Aquatic Management Area Habitat Program, Phase 3

Funds Recommended: $6,500,000

Manager's Name: Brian Nerbonne
Organization: DNR
Address: 500 Lafayette Road
City: Saint Paul, MN 55155
Office Number: 651-259-5205
Email: brian.nerbonne@state.mn.us

Legislative Citation: ML 2011, First Sp. Session, Ch. 6, Art. 1, Sec. 2, Subd. 5(a)

Appropriation Language: $6,500,000 the first year is to the commissioner of natural resources to acquire interests in land in fee or permanent conservation easements for aquatic management areas under Minnesota Statutes, sections 86A.05, subdivision 14, and 97C.02, to restore and enhance aquatic habitat. A list of proposed acquisitions and stream and lake habitat restorations and enhancements must be provided as part of the required accomplishment plan. The accomplishment plan must include an easement monitoring and enforcement plan.

County Locations: Becker, Beltrami, Benton, Blue Earth, Cass, Chisago, Clay, Cook, Cottonwood, Crow Wing, Dakota, Douglas, Fairbault, Fillmore, Houston, Hubbard, Itasca, Kandiyohi, Lake, Morrison, Olmsted, Otter Tail, Redwood, Rice, Scott, St. Louis, Swift, Wabasha, and Winona.

Regions in which work was completed:

- Northern Forest
- Forest / Prairie Transition
- Southeast Forest
- Prairie
- Metro / Urban

Activity types:

- Protect in Easement
- Restore
- Enhance
- Protect in Fee

Priority resources addressed by activity:

- Habitat

Summary of Accomplishments:

We protected 22.3 miles of trout streams and 1.3 miles of lakeshore via easements (585 acres in total), and 7.4 miles (504 acres) of lakeshore through fee-title purchase. We enhanced shoreline habitat on 524 acres of riparian land, and instream habitat on 3.1 miles of trout streams and 0.5 miles of warmwater rivers.

Process & Methods:

Protection of streams through conservation easements was enabled by the hiring of two easement specialists to work on acquisition. One position was funded through OHF, while the other leveraged funds from a Great Lakes Restoration grant. These positions contacted riparian landowners in targeted locations we prioritized for additional easement protection. We chose to target streams with high-quality habitat and fish populations, and along those streams we prioritized parcels that were adjacent to existing easements or protected public land, as well as landowners who owned parcels with longer lengths of stream. We also prioritized parcels with important features such as springs that are important to maintaining the cold water required by trout. All easements also needed to be accessible to the angling public, either from a public road, adjacent easement, or access path. Contacts with landowners were very fruitful; we found more potential parcels that we had money available for easements. This allowed us to prioritize the best parcels for easement purchase based on our criteria, but also created a list of potential parcels for acquisition using other funding sources, including OHF rounds from future years. We protected a total of 21.3 miles of trout streams using easements.

One lakeshore parcel was also protected via conservation easement using this appropriation. The landowners (a scout camp) wanted the parcel protected, but also wanted to continue their passive use of the parcel. A conservation easement was a better tool than fee title acquisition in this case, which allowed us to protect 200 acres along 1.3 miles of lakeshore. The total amount of lake and stream shore acres protected by easements was just short of our goal (585 vs. 609), but we believe in the case of lake and stream riparian protection the length of shoreline is the more important measure.

Fee title acquisition protected a total of 7.4 miles of lakeshore (504 acres) under this appropriation. We selected parcels for acquisition where the ratio of lakeshore to total acres was high in order to maximize riparian area protected, and where we protected critical and sensitive habitat such as emergent vegetation and natural shorelines that are critical for aquatic fish and wildlife. We were able to exceed our goal for acres protected in fee (504 vs. 427), in part due to over $550,000 in landowner donations of value that leveraged OHF money.

We completed four stream habitat projects: two were on trout streams (Eagle and Rush Creeks), and two were on a warmwater rivers (Buffalo and Pomme de Terre Rivers). Eagle Creek had been degraded by years of cattle grazing, along with numerous beaver dams that had created a wide, shallow stream uninhabited by trout, unlike downstream reaches with better habitat. Using a combination of coir logs, rootwads and other woody debris, and grading and revegetating of the streambanks, the stream was narrowed to less than half of its former width. This created a much deeper stream channel with better habitat for fish, as well as the ability for the stream to better move the over-abundance of sand that comprised the stream bottom. Trout are now found in the restored half-mile of stream. The local watershed district contributed matching funds that helped to complete the project.

Rush Creek habitat work has enhanced 2.5 miles of this trout stream. Steep eroding banks have been graded back, creating a floodplain that reduces the erosive energy of the stream during high water. Habitat structures of wood and rock have been placed in strategic locations on outside bends, providing stability to streambanks as well as cover for fish. All riparian areas have been seeded with a native mix of deep-rooted prairie grasses and forbs, providing enhanced stability for streambanks and habitat for terrestrial wildlife.

Restoration of a reach of the Buffalo River was done on property owned by the City of Hawley. A formerly straightened reach of the river, the stream had eroding banks and lacked diverse depths, velocities, and cover required by most fish species. 2,700 feet of new meandering stream channel was constructed to restore the stream to a more natural condition, and outside bends were stabilized with woody material buried into the banks which not only provides stability while planted native vegetation becomes established, but also provides habitat for fish and aquatic insects.

Enhancement work on the Pomme de Terre River was done on a relatively small area, but was critical to habitat in that reach. Due to bank erosion, the stream was in the process of cutting around a riffle that controls the grade of the streambed in that reach. That could have eventually lead to a downcutting of the stream channel that would have sent tons of sediment downstream. Instead, the streambank was stabilized using rootwads, and additional gravel and cobbles were added to the riffle to enhance its stability, as well as local habitat.

Riparian habitat on aquatic management areas was enhanced on 524 acres of Aquatic Management Areas (AMAs). Enhancement work included prescribe burns, planting of native vegetation, control of invasive species, and control of encroaching woody species in prairie. Much of this work was planned, contracted, and overseen by the shoreland restoration specialist position funded by this appropriation.

Explain Partners, Supporters, & Opposition:

The US Fish and Wildlife Service provided funding for positions to contact landowners and facilitate the purchase of conservation easements on North Shore trout streams. This contribution was valuable in reaching our goals in this area of work. Landowners donated some value toward fee title acquisition on some parcels. The Eagle Creek project was completed in part with matching funds from the local watershed district. The Buffalo River project was done in partnership with the local watershed district; they contracted the construction firm who built the project and contributed their own funds toward construction. This was similar to the Pomme de Terre River project, where the city of Appleton handled contracting for that project. A proposed fish passage project on the outlet to Fish Lake eventually was dropped due to opposition from the adjacent landowner, who did not want to see any changes to the dam.

Additional Comments:

Exceptional challenges, expectations, failures, opportunities, or unique aspects of program

The Fish Lake Dam project was part of our original accomplishment plan, and would have created fish passage into the lake by modifying the dam into a rapids. When the project was proposed we believed that an existing easement at the dam site would allow us construction access. However, we later learned that there was no way to get to the easement without crossing adjoining private property. The landowner did not wish to lose his favorite fishing hole downstream of the dam, and also did not like the idea of the approximately 200 truckloads of rock required to construct the project crossing his property. Without his cooperation we had no way to construct the project. As a result, we moved allocated funds to a stream restoration project on the Buffalo River.

Other Funds Received:

- Environmental and Natural Resource Trust Fund

How were the funds used to advanced the program:

We used $172,200 of ENRTF money towards the purchase of the South Branch Vermillion River Aquatic Management Area. The LSOHF portion of the purchase was $77,000.

What is the plan to sustain and/or maintain this work after the Outdoor Heritage Funds are expended:

Future compliance monitoring of easements will be paid for using Game and Fish Fund and Trout Stamp money. Maintenance of fee title acquisitions will be done using a combination of Game and Fish, Heritage Enhancement, and future Outdoor Heritage Fund appropriations. Due to the nature of the work, we do not anticipate ongoing maintenance of stream restoration projects or AMA enhancement work, but could utilize any of the aforementioned funds. Vegetation management such as prescribed burning or invasive species control that was done on AMA's generally requires similar work to at recurring intervals. We may potential use any of the aforementioned funds for future enhancement work, including requesting additional Outdoor Heritage Funds.

Outcomes:

The original accomplishment plan stated the program would

Programs in the northern forest region:

- Not Listed

How will the outcomes be measured and evaluated?

Outcomes here are best measured by the ongoing health of fish populations in the lakes and streams where we acquired fee title or easement parcels. The DNR conducts regular monitoring of fish populations which help to inform us on changes within these systems.

Programs in forest-prairie transition region:

- Not Listed

How will the outcomes be measured and evaluated?

Outcomes here are best measured by the ongoing health of fish populations in the lakes and streams where we acquired fee title or easement parcels. The DNR conducts regular monitoring of fish populations which help to inform us on changes within these systems. Our AMA enhancement work outcomes will be assessed based on the quality of vegetation, such as the diversity and abundance of native species, and the absence of invasive ones.

Programs in metropolitan urbanizing region:

- Not Listed

How will the outcomes be measured and evaluated?

The fish community in the South Fork Vermillion River and Eagle Creek, where protection and enhancement work was done in the metro, will be how we measure the outcome of our work. Metrics such as trout per mile, as well as coldwater index of biotic integrity scores, will be calculated based on regular monitoring of the fish and compared to past values.

Programs in southeast forest region:

- Not Listed

How will the outcomes be measured and evaluated?

On Rush Creek where enhancement work was done, as well as in other streams where conservation easements were purchased, we will measure the outcome of our work based on the fish population found in those streams. Metrics such as trout per mile, as well as coldwater index of biotic integrity scores, will be calculated based on regular monitoring of the fish and compared to past values.

Programs in prairie region:

How will the outcomes be measured and evaluated?

Outcomes here are best measured by the ongoing health of fish populations in the lakes where we acquired fee title parcels. The DNR conducts regular monitoring of fish populations which help to inform us on changes within these systems. Our AMA enhancement work outcomes will be assessed based on the quality of vegetation, such as the diversity and abundance of native species, and the absence of invasive ones.

Explain any budget challenges or successes:

Travel costs appear much higher than planned because the original accomplishment plan did not account for the cost of using DNR construction equipment as "travel". However, that is how it is categorized in the state accounting system. Once we became aware, a plan amendment to increase the amount allocated to "travel" was approved. Similarly, our professional services costs were higher than anticipated due in part to unanticipated professional services costs from stream restoration projects, which were originally thought to fall under "contracts". Leverage was lower than expected, reflecting lower-than-expected landowner donations, and that expected MRBI funds weren't approved by congress.

Target Lake/Stream/River Feet or Miles (original)

56.9

Target Lake/Stream/River Feet or Miles (final)

33.9

Explain the success/shortage of acre goals:

Our original goal for shoreline miles included riparian vegetation maintenance on AMAs. However, we have chosen to report those projects based on acres because the projects are generally a mix of shoreline and upland vegetation work. Reporting these projects based on shoreline length would not accurately reflect the amount of work done. The reduced enhancement acres is due to our dropping the Fish Lake project, and instead shifting those funds to a restoration project on the Buffalo River with a smaller amount of benefitted acres. We met our overall acreage output goal by exceeding our fee title acreage goal.
